New York

September 22, 2012 - Page 44

Breukelen Country Fair Saturday 22

The Wyckoff Farmhouse Museum, which was built by settlers from the Netherlands around 1652 (hence the Dutch spelling), provides a bucolic setting for the first edition of this old-timey fest. Learn about Brooklyn's agricultural past with cider-pressing stations, discussions of heirloom vegetables and heritage seeds, and grub from East New York Farms.

Wyckoff Farmhouse Museum

Visitors can take a tour of the farmhouse, the oldest standing structure in the city; or attend a composting demo. Bluegrass music by the Golden Bones and Joe Crow Ryan, games and crafts round out the day. 5816 Clarendon Rd at Ralph Ave, Flatbush, Brooklyn (718-629-5400, wyckoffassociation.org). 1-6pm; $5, children under 10 $3.
